IMAX Documentary Film Series:

Beyond the 3D “This is a movie that could change all of our lives.

It’s about how in this digital age, when we use technologies to engage with our world in new ways, there are some things that we’ll never have the same kind of experience or that we’ll never see as the creators intended them.”

—Carlton Young, Emmy Award-Winning Documentarian “(The Imax Documentary Series) is

elevating the documentary form from a camera-wielding crowd of white guys — no offense to those who do it well — into an art form that can engage just about anyone.” —John Sullivan, Los Angeles Times

The Imax Documentary Series is redefining what the genre means by fusing documentary filmmaking with IMAX’s world-class immersive technology. Series titles have been nominated for or won numerous awards, including four Academy Awards for Best Documentary, the first ever Academy Award for Best Documentary Feature and the Audience Award at the Sundance Film Festival. The Imax Documentary Series was first introduced in 2013, featuring influential films on topics ranging from the everyday to the sublime. Titles in this series have included the Academy Award-winning documentary The Inconvenient Truth, the documentary Philomena, and The Last Temptation of Christ. “In the age of YouTube, Netflix, Twitter, and characters who experience the world as their Imax experience it. Join the directors, as well as the subjects themselves, for a look at the secrets of their extraordinary lives. In this fourth volume, Film Director Oscar-winner Tim Wardle and his son, cinematographer Jason Wardle, investigate the fun and scientific side of small parts and plastic surgery. They explore the ancient custom of Ayurvedic face
